

Iraq Regime Overthrown by Military

By ELIAS ANTAR
Associated Press Writer
BEIRUT, Lebanon (AP) — A bloodless military coup in Iraq has ousted the regime of President Abdel Rahman Aref and expelled him from the country, Baghdad Radio announced today.

A "Revolutionary Command Council" took over all executive and legislative powers. Its membership was not announced immediately, but there was speculation it is led by the Baath Socialist party, which rules Syria.

Denouncing Aref's regime as "a bunch of illiterates," a Baghdad broadcast said the ousted leaders had "divided the country into feudal sectors for their personal enrichment," failed to settle the rebellion of the Kurdish tribes in northern Iraq, and pursued a "ruthless and superficial policy on Palestine."

Aref had advocated a political settlement of the Arab-Israeli dispute. Syria's Baathist government is the most militant of Israel's opponents in the 1967 war.

Iraq's borders, airports, ports and railroad services were shut down, and an indefinite curfew was clamped on the country.

Baghdad Radio reported Aref, 52, had been sent to join his family in exile. It did not say to which country he went, but Turkey was considered likely.

The government of Premier Taher Yahya also was dismissed, the radio said. It emphasized that the takeover was bloodless.

Messages of support from various military units were broadcast and the radio said fighter planes were flying over the capital in support of the coup.

It hinted that the takeover had been carefully planned, saying military commanders throughout the country had "carried out instructions to the letter to prevent any bloodshed."

The radio said the coup was carried out to "preserve the July 14 revolution and the revolution of March 8." The July 14 revolution overthrew the Iraqi monarchy 10 years ago, while on March 8, 1963, the Baath Socialists overthrew Abdel Karim Qassem, who had led the revolt against the monarchy. Eight months later the Baathists were ousted by Aref's brother, the late President Abdel Salem Aref.

After Abdel Salem's death in a helicopter crash two years ago, his brother assumed the presidency.

Considered more conservative than his late brother, the tall, wavy-haired Aref had recently sought to weld Iraqi political factions into a single party, the Arab Socialist Union. The attempt never got off the ground.

Steel Strike Expected to Be Voted

By DOUG BAILEY
Associated Press Writer

PITTSBURGH (AP) — Local union presidents say they expect 98 per cent of the United Steelworkers' rank and file to vote to strike the nation's basic steel industry. "The companies have a shock coming," said the president of a big Ohio local. "Our guys are ready to go."

The vote, set for July 23, will be the first in history for the 450,000 men who cast the most widely used of all metals. But it doesn't mean they will walk out of the mills when their contract expires Aug. 1.

"We are saying, quite frankly, that time is running out," said I. W. Abel, president of the union, after a daylong series of meetings with his top negotiating teams Tuesday.

He told a news conference that the companies still had not put any money on the bargaining table although industrywide negotiations opened June 3 in New York and have been going full tilt in Pittsburgh for more than three weeks.

"There's been some good progress in some areas," he said, but none in others, especially the wage package.

"I would hope that in the remaining weeks that we could get down to the hard, factual bargaining and work out a contract," Abel said.

The local union presidents were more vocal.

"We haven't got anything from the companies," said Anthony Tomko, president of the 5,000-man local 1408 at McKeesport, Pa. "But they'd better wake up."

The head of a bigger local in Illinois said he was going to make sure he got 98 per cent of his men voting to strike.

"We're going to put the pressure on the company," he said.

The authority to call a strike rested previously in the union's wage policy committee. But Abel, who campaigned for office on a promise of broadening local participation in union affairs, backed a change in the by-laws to permit the rank and file vote.

However, the 600-man basic steel industry conference, which approved the strike vote, has the power to accept any settlement offered by the companies.

"A lot of things can happen between now and August first," Abel said, emphasizing that a strike vote doesn't necessarily mean a strike.

Sept. 20 after overruling motions for a new trial.

The four also were sentenced to life in prison for a super-market robbery, which preceded the slaying of patrolman William Meyer Sr., who was trying to apprehend the armed robbers.

Pankey claimed during the trial that he and Swatte were in Belvidere, Ill., on the day of the slaying. After dividing the $14,300 taken in a holdup of a grocery at Belvidere, Pankey said he and Swatte returned to a motel room they had rented in Cicero, near Chicago.

Prosecution witnesses testified that Pankey and Pope were present when Meyer was shot to death.

To Ease Money for Building

By JOSEPH R. COYNE
Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — The federal government, hoping to insure the health of both home building and the economy, will make it easier beginning next month for builders and buyers to get mortgage credit.

An easing of federal regulations effective Aug. 1 will permit the savings and loan industry to offer an additional $500 million to the public in home loans. The government, announcing this Tuesday, indicated a further easing could come later.

The additional credit will become available at a time when government experts look for slower over-all growth in the nation's economy.

Some private economists have contended the 10 per cent income tax surcharge, coupled with $6 billion in spending cuts and higher Social Security taxes next Jan. 1, will brake the economy too much and possibly result in recession.

But government economists contend this "overkill theory" ignores the basic strength of the private economy and fails to take account of an easing in credit conditions and a better balance of economic policy.

One government source said the easing of mortgage credit was made possible by the surcharge which went into effect this week as an anti-inflationary tool.

install more than 70 per cent of the equipment needed if the dispute were ended immediately. The convention is scheduled to open Aug. 26 in the Amphitheatre.

"At this time, we still plan to hold the convention in Chicago," said John M. Bailey, chairman of the Democratic National Committee, Tuesday. He expressed regret at the latest impasse but added, "We still hold out some hope of getting the job done in Chicago."

Bailey said he would confer with company and union officials about the dispute.

Illinois Bell made a counterproposal for a three-year contract and asked Daley to urge the union to let the Federal Mediation and Conciliation Service conduct a secret ballot referendum of the IBEW local membership on the revised proposal.

The union has refused such a referendum in the past. Details of the new company proposal were not disclosed.

the Federal Reserve System, however, when it might loosen its tight anti-inflationary rein on credit now that the surcharge has gone into effect.

Its Open Market Committee, a 12-man panel which drafts basic policy guidelines, held its regular closed meeting Tuesday, but indicated in no way what action it took.

The Federal Reserve Board did report another increase in the nation's industrial production to its second straight monthly record. The advance was only three-tenths of a point to 164.4 per cent of the 1957-59 base period, a substantial slowing from the 1.6 point increase during May.

It followed earlier government announcements of a leveling in retail sales and an increased unemployment rate, all possible indications of the anticipated economic slowdown.

Earlier this year, home builders and credit experts were worried about a possible return of conditions to those of 1966, one of the poorest years for home building since World War II.

Integration Suits Are Reinstated

LITTLE ROCK (AP)—Desegregation suits against the Junction City and Crawfordville school districts have been reactivated in U.S. District Court by the Justice Department.

The department seeks to have previously approved freedom-of-choice plans replaced with others that would produce more integration.

The department filed a motion May 24 in the Junction City case seeking to have all-white Junction City School and the all-Negro Roosevelt School consolidated starting with the 1968-69 school year.

"Despite the passage of two years since the first desegregation order, there continues to be two racially segregated 12-14 grade schools," the department said.

A motion in the Crawfordville case was filed July 10. The department said that freedom of choice "falls to provide a real prospect for dismantling" the racial identification of the predominantly white Crawfordville School and the all-Negro Le Roy McNeil School.

The department asked federal District Judge Gordon E. Young of Little Rock to order the consolidation of the Crawfordville and Le Roy McNeil schools or the assignment of students to each school on the basis of nonracial geographic attendance zones to take effect in 1968-69.

The department sued Junction City and Crawfordville in 1966 because they didn't file a desegregation plan as required by the 1964 Civil Rights Act, and a patron in each district complained about segregation.

The state Department of Education said Tuesday that Arkansas school districts currently in noncompliance were Bright Star (Miller County), Junction City, Hazen, Stamps, Collins (Drew County), Lawson (Union County), Elaine (Phillips County) and Strong (Union County).

Heat Wave Grips East; Water Scarce

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

A sweltering heat wave withered much of the eastern two-thirds of the nation today and overtaxed power and water facilities in large cities as perspiring residents sought relief.

A slight break in the five-day hot spell dented the northern plains, but the change in temperatures was so abrupt it triggered violent thunderstorms which unleashed torrential rains and occasional flash floods.

Two persons were reported drowned in a flash flood which swept the northeastern Iowa community of Waverly today following an 8-inch downpour that swamped the area in a little over two hours.

Lightning from the same storm knocked out electric power in Waterloo, Iowa, for four hours.

Relief from the heat was on a do-it-yourself basis for millions in the Midwest and the East where the mercury remained in the high 70s and low 80s throughout the night. Readings in the 90s stretched from the central plains to northern New England Tuesday.

Boston registered a high of 98, New York 97, one degree below its record for the date.

The instinct to grouch up the air conditioner or hop into a cool shower created record demands for electrical power and water in Chicago and knocked out electricity to 24,000 homes in New York City. The outages ranged from a few minutes to an hour or more.

Adding to the demand for water in both cities were hundreds of illegally opened fire hydrants turned on by residents.

In Boston, the fire department turned on sprinklers for youngsters at 75 hydrants. City officials reported electricity consumption hit an all-time peak Tuesday and water consumption jumped 23 per cent.

As far as any general relief, the Weather Bureau was not optimistic. "Little change is expected in the over-all picture," was the way a forecaster put it.

to the judge assigned the case, the sheriff said.

The low-ceilinged chamber, 46 by 50 feet, was a visiting room for women prisoners until they were moved to another jail about three years ago. Since then it has been used to store paint, air-conditioning gear and kitchen steam kettles.

The assassination accelerated its long planned conversion to a squad room for instructing deputies assigned to the jail on the top five floors.

Sheriff Pitchess told 87 newsmen that he invited them to see "this so-called minifortress," as a recent local headline described it, "so there would be no mystery about it and its location."

A sheriff's aide pulled the drapes' draw string to disclose three steel plates 6 feet wide, 7 feet 7 inches tall and a quarter-inch thick. Also eggshell-white, they stand on rollers and tracks about two feet in from the three windows overlooking Broadway.

"The plates are for protection, so nothing can be thrown in," Pitchess said, "... explosion or a bomb."

Behind ropes in the room are two abutting mahogany console tables with five leather-upholstered chairs. Expected to sit from left to right from spectators' viewpoint, Pitchess said, are Sirhan, his attorney, the chief prosecutor and his two aides.

A plywood enclosure, painted brown, surrounds the judge's raised, built-in desk. There are metal folding chairs for 79 newsmen and other spectators. Behind a rope to one side are 23 chairs for sheriff's aides and other officials.

3 Girls Are Freed; Captor Is Held

GREENSBORO, N.C. (AP) — Three teen-age girls held as hostages for more than 24 hours were freed Tuesday night when police captured Edward Thompson Jr., an accused kidnaper. The father of one of the girls and the mother of another were found shot to death earlier.

Shaken and at times sobbing, the girls were returned to their homes in Roanoke, Va., shortly after Greensboro police arrested Thompson.

With pistols drawn, police stopped Thompson in a stolen car belonging to the father of one of the girls. He offered no resistance. Police found two rifles and a pistol in the car.

Thompson, 37, a Negro from Eden, N.C., was declared an outlaw by a Superior Court judge in Hendersonville June 25. This meant any citizen could have legally shot him if he disregarded an order to surrender.

He was wanted on six counts of kidnapping, three of rape and one each of armed robbery, car theft and assault on an officer. The crimes occurred in May and June near Hendersonville and Mooresville in western North Carolina. The victims in all the cases were white.

The car in which Thompson was stopped at Greensboro belonged to J. Howard Davis, 50, a Roanoke salesman whose body was found earlier in the afternoon in the basement of a house near Roanoke. Also in the house was the body of Mrs. Brewster Freeman, 50, of Roanoke. Both had been shot.

The three girls were Jo Ellen Davis, 13, daughter of the dead man; Hester "Cherry" Freeman, 17, daughter of the dead woman; and Mathilda Love, 13, of near Roanoke, a People always wonder why we write about game and slam contracts most of the time and seldom discuss a part-score hand. There are two good reasons for this. The first is that the higher the contract the greater the reader interest. The next is that the higher the contract the easier it is to write about.

Take today's hand. We could write a whole article about South's decision to bid two spades instead of letting his partner play one no-trump. We recommend a pass with this 5-3-3-2 distribution as a general rule but this time it turns out that the two-spade call is superior. One no-trump would almost surely have gone down one trick against a heart or club bid.

Two spades can be set also. East must win the first or second club and shift to a heart. Later on he will lead a second heart when he gets in with the king of diamonds.

This line of defense will give East and West one trump, one heart, two diamonds and two clubs but they did not find that line of play.

They led three rounds of clubs. South ruffed and played as safely as possible for his two-spade contract.

He led a diamond to dummy's ace and a diamond back to East's king. East played a heart but he was a trifle late. South went up with his jack, just in case East had led from the queen. When West produced the queen, South had to win in dummy. He led another diamond to East's jack, while West proceeded to discard his last club.

East led a second heart. South won in dummy, led a spade to his ace and a second back to dummy's king. Then he led a good diamond to discard his losing heart. West ruffed but had to give South the rest of the tricks.

This line of play had worked and it was the one most likely to work but South's face would have been mighty red if East had held one more low spade. In that case, this play would have failed but the simple tactic of drawing trumps early would have worked.

Instead of bidding three no-trump your partner bids three clubs over your two hearts. You bid three diamonds and he bids four diamonds. What do you do now?

Take Care of Your Hands

One well-known connoisseur of beauty claimed he could tell the age of any woman by studying her hands. If yours are dry and roughened, give them the daily protection of a creamy lotion. A good hand lotion contains moisturizers and softeners that lubricate skin and combat chapping. Apply the lotion liberally to arms and elbows, too, where skin is apt to be dry. To nudge yourself into the hand-protection habit, keep extra lotion near the kitchen sink, laundry room or in desk drawer.

Bob Thomas at the Movies

By BOB THOMAS

AP Movie-Television Writer HOLLYWOOD (AP) — "Hogan's Heroes" has faced—and apparently conquered—the problem of presenting on television a wartime comedy at a time when the nation is torn by war and antiwar feelings.

Not that the conquest is complete. The CBS series still draws occasional knocks from critics who claim that a prisoner of war camp run by Germans in World War II is not suitable for comedy.

But "Hogan's Heroes" has won the most important test in television: survival. It will be returning for a fourth season next fall.

Bob Crane, who is Hogan, has his own theories why the show has survived against long odds and the barbs of critics.

"I think if we tried to come on the air now, we wouldn't have a chance with 'Hogan's Heroes,' the times would be against it. Three years ago, the timing was just right. World War II — In fact, the Korean War, too — had been over long enough so people could laugh about some of the things that happened during the war.

"By now the characters are well established and accepted, and we have licked most of the criticism that a German prisoner of war camp is not a fit subject for comedy—assassinations, plane crashes and a few other matters that offer definite taboos.

"But nearly everything else can be treated in a comic manner. Oh, I've had people ask me, 'How can you make fun of a concentration camp? Think of all the Jews that were killed.' Well, ours isn't a concentration camp; it's a camp filled with soldiers who are prisoners, and their situations can be funny."

Another criticism has been the portrayal of the German captors. Crane's defense: "Schultz (the comedy character played by John Banner) is neither stupid nor a traitor. He simply says, 'I see nothing; I know nothing.' He is a type that appears to have been common in Nazi Germany."

"The camp commandant, played by Werner Klemperer, isn't stupid, either. He is an egomaniac, the kind of man who can be fooled when he is butted over, which is what I do to him. But then we also need two or three regular bad guys to present the element of danger. These are the brutal, Nazi types who are our villains."

Crane believes that his own role is crucial to the believability of the series. Although he is a funnymen in other mediums, he plays Hogan fairly straight.

"He is a gung-ho type, almost like a John Wayne," the actor explained. "He can be flip in his relations with the camp commandant, but in most situations he is serious. When the heroes get too wild, he says, 'All right, knock it off!'"

"I keep a close eye on the character, and if anything doesn't sound right in the script, I speak up about it. Series can be badly damaged when characterizations get out of hand."

Michel de Montaigne, French writer, is famous as the creator of the modern essay.

MARRIAGE NOT HER BIGGEST PROBLEM

Dear Helen: I want a divorce. I am 24, married five years, have one child and am very unhappy. I have no desire to make this marriage work and feel like I'm wasting my life. I have felt this way for many years.

My husband is a good worker, provider and father. What bothers me most is parting him from his son. He knows I don't love him. We have separated a few times, but I feel so miserable I always come back, after he begs me to. We are now sleeping apart. I know he loves me, and his family is like my own. I had a very bad childhood. This may have some bearing on — I guess you'd call it — my mess.

We are not religious people, and no matter what, I still want a divorce. Even when things are at their worst, my husband doesn't let anything bother him. He's patient, good, honorable — and I want out! Help me please. Where do I start? Without hurting people too much? — P.M.E.

Dear P: Your problems, I'm quite sure, started long before your marriage, and a divorce won't solve them. You've got a deep-down misery that turns whatever you have into something you don't want — a good psychologist might show you the way. Why not call the Family Service Agency in your city? — H.

Dear Helen: I've got a trouble-making sister-in-law who has caused nothing but grief for me. Now she is planning to be married and has asked my husband to stand up for her, as they have no father.

I am not even invited to her wedding!

Should he give her away, when she won't even give ME the time of day? — LEFT OUT

Dear L.O.: A husband's first loyalty is to his wife — not to his sister. He should give her to understand that her wedding invitation includes you both — or neither shows! — H.

Dear Helen: My problem is my bust. What can I do? — BUST

FUSED

Dear B.F.: Your problem is lack of communication. Is your bust size "eye cup," triple-C cup, or "mug?" The first takes camouflage; the third, support; and the second — a "No-ing" way with wolves. — H.

Dear Helen: Maybe if I tell you the story behind the barbs which appeared in the paper, your readers won't think so badly of the couple who were reported to have watched for 20 minutes while a baby was beaten to death. You were right, Helen, they weren't that unfeeling.

This young couple was sitting in a closed car across the street from an apartment house. On the second floor, behind drawn shades, they saw what appeared to be someone tossing a doll into the air. When it continued, they rolled down a window and thought they heard a baby crying, so they rushed into an office nearby, got someone to come out and observe, and then they called the police. They were involved, but like most of us in like circumstances, they weren't sure what was happening, so rather than break into an apartment, they called for help. — ONE WHO KNOWS

Race Tracks Claim Total 19 Drivers

With the season barely past the midway point, at least 19 drivers have been killed in world motor racing this year despite the most effective safety program the sport has ever known.

If the present trend continues, the toll very well could surpass 1967, which the Europeans call the "black year" in auto racing. Twenty six drivers lost their lives on the continent and in Britain last year, compared with only six in the United States.

This year's victims have run the gamut of talent from the great, represented by two-time world driving champion Jimmy Clark, to drivers unknown outside their own immediate areas.

During the first weekend of the July four drivers were killed in a semiautomatic race in the U.S. Vicente Derrado in the old Mudi and one in Europe. They included son Square Garden nearly three years old.

In Europe, the death June 8 of Lodovico Scarfiotti, a 34-year-old Grand Prix veteran and hill climb specialist, left motor sports-conscious Italy without a big name driver on the world championship circuit. Scarfiotti was killed when his car crashed during practice for a hill climb near Berchtesgaden, Germany.

There is no international title agency that keeps track of auto racing deaths. The major U.S. sanctioning bodies know of only nine in this country this year. NEW YORK (NEA)—Bill Hampton is like the old supply sergeant, except that he's not as grumpy and the materials he issues usually fit the recipients.

Hampton is the equipment manager of the New York Jets. During the months after the season ends and prior to summer camp, Bill labors alone in the green-carpeted locker room at Shea Stadium while the Jets' summer replacements, the Mets, frolic in the sun. Hampton, 39, is a five-year man. He has no worries of sticking with the club.

This summer, the Jets are training at Hofstra University in Hempstead, L.I. Hampton has seen that all equipment from last year has either been repaired or replaced. All the helmets have been reconditioned and inventories taken on what is required for the upcoming camp.

Bids are accepted from sporting goods companies for new equipment and uniforms. Then everything is co-ordinated and packed for the trip to summer camp.

"I also have to set up the locker room," he says, "assign lockers to each of the 75 players, arrange for meals and assign rooms. Hampton's private joke is that he cuts anybody he can't suit out.

3-Hitter by Briles Wins for Cards

By MIKE BRYSON Associated Press Sports Writer

You can't help getting the feeling that the St. Louis Cardinals are going to be chucking all the way to the World Series over those persistent reports they're well overdue for a reversal of fortunes.

Masterful Lou Brock did just about everything but sweep out the joint Wednesday night as the Cards whipped San Francisco's slumping Giants 6-1.

And, to add a bit of sweetening, Nelson Briles picked up the victory on a three-hitter.

It was the sixth straight for the Cards, who've been beaten only once in 14 games this month.

Brock not only delivered three hits, two runs and two RBI, but also contributed three stolen bases as St. Louis held on to its 9½ game lead over Atlanta, a 6-2 conqueror of Houston.

Pittsburgh ended its 10-game losing streak by stopping the New York Mets 3-2, Chicago snapped Philadelphia's winning streak at seven, 4-3, with Glenn Beckert's 12th-inning double, and Ron Fairly's grand slam homer guided Los Angeles past Cincinnati 9-2 in other National League action.

In the American League, New York swept a doubleheader from Washington, 4-0 and 4-3, Minnesota trounced Boston 12-3, Baltimore edged Chicago 4-2, Detroit blanked Oakland 4-0 and Cleveland nipped California 2-1 in 10 innings.

Brock picked a painful way to begin his string of heroics. He was hit by a pitch in the first inning, then stole second before eventually scoring on Mike Shannon's sacrifice fly.

In the second, Brock's two-run single broke a 1-1 tie. He then swiped second again and came in on Curt Flood's single.

Willie McCovey's 23rd homer produced the Giants' lone run.

Pittsburgh relied on Jerry May's two-out two-run double in the seventh to end its tailspin two losses short of the modern-era club record set in 1939.

May's decisive blow came after Donn Clendenon walked and Bill Mazeroski beat out a slow roller. The Mets, who lost their fifth straight, had taken a 2-1 lead in the fifth on Ron Swoboda's two-run single.

Fairly's grand slam—first by a Dodger in four years—enabled Los Angeles to break its five-game victory drought. It was the Reds' seventh loss in a row. Fairly also scored another run in the seventh on a sacrifice fly, and Tom Haller had a three-run homer.

Don Pavletich hit a solo blast for Cincinnati in the seventh. Beckert had a chance to be a hero twice in the Cubs' triumph, and in the process extended his hitting streak to 21 games.

In addition to his winning blow in the 12th, he had a run-scoring single in a two-run sixth, after starter Chris Short had held the Cubs hitless for five innings.

However, the Phils sent it into extra innings with a pair of runs in the bottom of the ninth when Tony Taylor doubled and scored on an outfield error and Cookie Rojas singled in a tally.

Atlanta used Bob Johnson's tie-breaking single in the eighth, and Tito Francona's two-run single in a three-run ninth to upend Houston.

The Astros had taken a 2-1 lead in the fifth on John Bate-man's double and Dick Simpson's single, but the Braves tied it in the next inning on Bob Till-man's pinch single.

Twins Blast Boston by 12-3 Score

By DICK COUCH Associated Press Sports Writer

When Minnesota pitchers got the word to start running for their money Dean Chance wasn't caught standing still. And neither were the Twins' hitters.

Jolted by a pregame blast—directed at the pitching staff—by club president Calvin Griffith Tuesday night, the Twins erupted for six first inning runs and went on to crush Boston 12-3 behind Chance's six-hitters.

The victory—only the third for the Twins in their last 12 games—sent them from seventh to fifth place in the American League standings.

Detroit's Denny McLain breezed to his 18th victory, tops in the majors, as the front-running Tigers blanked Oakland 4-0, ending a three-game losing string and holding their 6½ game edge over second place Baltimore.

The red-hot Orioles topped the Chicago White Sox 4-2 for their seventh successive victory, Cleveland nipped California 2-1 in 10 innings and the New York Yankees swept a two-night twin bill from Washington 4-0 and 4-3 in other AL action.

St. Louis trimmed San Francisco 6-1, Atlanta downed Houston 6-2, the Chicago Cubs shaded Philadelphia 4-3 in 12 innings, Pittsburgh beat the New York Mets 3-2 and Los Angeles drubbed Cincinnati 9-2 in National League games.

Griffith, convinced that an out-of-shape pitching staff was responsible for the Twins' recent tailspin into the second division, ordered more running for the hurlers after a rare on-the-field inspection visit before his club took on the Red Sox.

"Our pitchers have got to get their legs in better shape," Griffith said. "How many pitchers have we had go nine innings recently? I can't remember any for a long time."

Chance went the route with ease, backed by an early inning barrage that sent three Boston pitchers scurrying for cover before Jim Lonborg finally still the Twins' bats. All 12 Minnesota runs were scored in the first four innings against loser Gary Bell and relievers Bill Landis and Jerry Stephenson.

Tony Oliva's two-run triple and a two-run homer by John Roseboro were the big blows in the first inning burst. Oliva doubled home a run in the second and Rich Reese and Rick Renick contributed two-run singles in the third and fourth, respectively.

Chance allowed only four hits—including homers by Lonborg and Reggie Smith—until the ninth.

McLain scattered eight hits and struck out nine. The Detroit ace, 18-2, did not permit an Oakland runner past second base.

Al Kaline slammed his fifth homer against loser Chuck Dobson, who was clipped for eight hits and all four Detroit runs in the 5-1-3 innings he lasted.

Andy Etchebarren's fifth homer sent the Orioles in front to stay at Chicago and right-hander Jim Hardin shackled the White Sox on six hits. The victory was No. 6 without a loss for Earl Weaver, Baltimore's new skipper. The loss was the White Sox' first in four starts under new pilot Al Lopez.

Larry Brown's run-scoring single in the 10th carried the Indians past the Angels after Joe Azcue's double off reliever Bobby Locke started the winning rally. California rookie Tom Murphy had held the Indians to three hits over the first nine innings. Stan Williams was the winner in relief of Sam McDowell.

Rocky Colavito slammed a three-run homer in his first game as a Yankee, helping Steve Barber, who scattered 10 hits, subdue the Senators in the opener at New York.

Nicklaus Draws Bead on PGA

By RON SPEER
Associated Press Sports Writer
SAN ANTONIO, Tex. (AP) — Big Jack Nicklaus, trying to retain his reputation as one of golf's best pressure players, heads into Thursday's start of the 1968 PGA tournament hoping to end almost a year of frustration.

Not since last fall has the blond king of the fairways won a tour title, but Nicklaus still ranks as the man to beat on the 7,096-yard Pecan Valley course. Nicklaus' bid for victory in the last of the Big Four tournaments will be challenged by 167 touring pros and club professionals on the par 70 layout crisscrossed by Salado Creek. Top contenders include Billy Casper, top money winner on the tour this year, and a band of brash youngsters led by San Antonio favorite Lee Trevino and confident Dave Stockton. But defending champion Don January, a Texan who grew up in the sun-baked Southwest, said the heat and the shaggy rough around the narrow fairways will be the biggest challenges. "The rough is tough, and the heat may be awful," said January, who failed to make the cut last week at the Milwaukee Open.

Temperatures in the 90s are likely throughout the tournament, which is a sharp change for Nicklaus. He played in the British Open in Scotland last week, with temperatures in the 50s. Nicklaus, fighting an erratic driver all season, always has fared well in the four prestige tournaments, which also include the Masters and the PGA. Except for 1964, he won at least one of the Big Four every year since he turned pro, claiming the PGA crown in 1963. The pro tour this year, however, has been dominated by Casper and the younger players, such as Trevino, Stockton, Bob Lunn and Tom Weiskopf. Trevino, El Paso, Tex., native whose Mexican ancestry makes him the sentimental favorite of San Antonio's Mexican-American fans, won the U.S. Open last month.

Lunn and Weiskopf each have won twice this year, and Stockton won the last two tournaments he played, collecting a $40,000 payoff in the Milwaukee Open Sunday. Most of golf's big names are in the field, with the exception of South African Gary Player, last week's British Open champion, and Argentina's Roberto De Vicenzo. Arnold Palmer, who has never won the PGA title and whose last triumph in a prestige tournament was at the 1964 Masters, has been in and out but will tee off Thursday. He appeared optimistic about his chances after a practice round Tuesday before he flew to Colorado to visit a boys' golf camp.

HOPE (ARK) STAR, Printed by Offset

Julius Boros, Bobby Nichols, Dave Marr, Al Geiberger, Jerry Barber, Jay Hebert, Bob Rosburg, Dow Finsterwald, Lionel Hebert, Doug Ford and Sam Snead are among the former champions in the field.

The winner of the 72-hole tournament which ends Sunday will collect about $30,000.

G. & F. Member Fights TB

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — The personal physician of Raymond R. Farris of Blscoe, the first member of the state Game and Fish Commission to face ouster proceedings, said Tuesday that Farris is being treated for tuberculosis.

Other commission members who were meeting here Tuesday released a letter from Dr. Travis Mathews of Hazen that said Farris was undergoing treatment for "systemic infection," which was said to be tuberculosis.

The letter said Farris' illness required "long-term treatment and regulated rest." "Mr. Farris' condition is good at this time and the prognosis is excellent as long as all goes well as it is now," the letter said.

Farris is reported to be on a fishing trip and authorities have been unable to serve him with the ouster charges.

Gov. Winthrop Rockefeller, who has said he has evidence of misconduct in office by some members of the commission, said he would not make public the specific charges against Farris until he is served with the papers.

Study Funds Are Sought by G. & F.

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — The state Game and Fish Commission voted Tuesday to ask the 1969 legislature for authorization and money to conduct a management study.

The commission said a proposed bill would be drawn and presented for final approval at the commission's August meeting at Mountain Home.

The Arkansas Wildlife Federation has been pressing for the study and volunteered to pay for it, but the commission was concerned that if the AWF were to pay the cost the report would be politically biased.

Recommendations for the personnel of a study team would be sought from sportsmen's groups, other interested organizations and individuals throughout the state.

Kiwanians Hear Alex Sanderson

Alex Sanderson, Texarkana, candidate for chancery judge, was introduced by Attorney F. C. Crow and spoke to Hope Kiwanis Club at its noon luncheon Tuesday in the Town and Country restaurant.

Mr. Sanderson is running for chancellor in the Sixth District, to succeed Judge Wesley Howard, who is retiring because of health.

Cartoons Effective in Campaign

By ED SHEARER
Associated Press Writer
LITTLE ROCK (AP) — No one can accurately assess the effect campaign cartoon advertisements have on Arkansas elections, but few will deny that they do create some interest.

In 1966, the interest centered on the "Throw the Rascals Out" series of cartoons published in Little Rock newspapers — a series which primarily depicted former Gov. Orval Faubus, former Atty. Gen. Bruce Bennett and former state Rep. Paul Van Dalsem as "the rascals."

Faubus didn't seek re-election two years ago but Bennett and Van Dalsem were defeated by the voters.

The campaign of 1968 in Arkansas has again brought the cartoonists to the front, this time with a pair of committees, both of which claim either non-partisanship or that they aren't pushing anyone's candidacy in the governor's race.

The latest group identifies itself as the "Let's Don't Crank up the old machines again" committee. The other group calls itself the "Committee for the Advancement of the Unadulterated Truth."

Charles Herrick, a retired real estate businessman who moved here from Louisiana 11 years ago, is chairman of the old machines committee and Frank Binores, a trailer park operator, chairs the other.

Herrick's group has published one advertisement showing gubernatorial candidate Marion Crank pictured on a billboard. Two cartoon figures of Faubus and Van Dalsem have just finished putting up the billboard and Faubus questions their use of a gas pipe on which Crank has placed his hands.

Van Dalsem says they can tell the people "it's supposed to be a cannon. The gas pipe symbolizes Crank's association with W. R. "Witt" Stephens, president of Arkansas-Louisiana Gas Co., which owns the cement company for which Crank works.

Binores' committee has been operating for several months, having placed three ads attacking gubernatorial candidate Frank Whitbeck.

Two of the cartoons linked Whitbeck to Gov. Winthrop Rockefeller and the other that showed Whitbeck, dressed in a tuxedo, telling a group at the Little Rock Country Club that "I represent the common man."

Both Herrick and Binores have declined to identify the members of their committees, but both say their membership is small in number. "We don't want to be malicious," said Binores.

He said his group had originally intended to include candidates other than Whitbeck "but he's the one we consider has a potential of winning. It's no use in wasting money for ads against somebody we feel doesn't have a chance."

Herrick says there aren't a great number of people and not a great amount of money involved in his group. "It's not the biggest thing in the world," he said. "There's nothing more or nothing less than you see."

Herrick says he would just like to see "a new 'right guard' Democratic movement."

Herrick says he doesn't like the Rockefeller administration. "I don't believe it's put us ahead."

The cartoons, he says, are designed to alert the public that "there does exist a danger in an establishment."

Lull in Shelling of Saigon

By JOHN M. HIGHTOWER
AP Special Correspondent
PARIS (AP) — Ambassador W. Averell Harriman said today that the lack of Communist shelling of Saigon for the past month "may have some significance" for the Paris peace talks.

Harriman told the North Vietnamese in his formal statement that the United States had made a series of proposals for reducing infiltration from North Vietnam into the South, restoring the demilitarized buffer zone between North and South, respecting the neutrality of neighboring Laos and Cambodia, and the like.

He said North Vietnam had rejected each proposal. "Your only answer has been the repetition of a slogan: Stop the bombing and pull American forces out of Vietnam."

Before going into the meeting, Harriman said the lack of enemy shelling of Saigon for the past month "may have some significance."

Harriman said he had "no way to judge" whether a reported withdrawal of some of the enemy forces in the Saigon area constituted a peace move. He added that he did not know exactly how much withdrawal there had been.

In Vietnam, U.S. Defense Secretary Clark Clifford minimized the withdrawal, which intelligence reports said occurred west of the South Vietnamese capital. Clifford told newsmen that enemy forces around Saigon are increasing and another countrywide enemy offensive tuxedo, telling a group at the Little Rock Country Club that "I represent the common man."

Both Herrick and Binores have declined to identify the members of their committees, but both say their membership is small in number. "We don't want to be malicious," said Binores.

He said his group had originally intended to include candidates other than Whitbeck "but he's the one we consider has a potential of winning. It's no use in wasting money for ads against somebody we feel doesn't have a chance."

Herrick says there aren't a great number of people and not a great amount of money involved in his group. "It's not the biggest thing in the world," he said. "There's nothing more or nothing less than you see."

can be expected in late July, August or early September. Harriman said it was interesting that since the United States had protested against "the indiscriminate shelling and inhumane and barbaric attacks on Saigon" there has been no shelling of the city.

"That may have some significance," he said. "I hope it does, but one doesn't know whether they'll start again."

Asked whether it might be an act of reciprocity on North Vietnam's part in response to President Johnson's March 31 limitation on bombing of North Vietnam, Harriman replied: "It's hardly reciprocity to stop an escalation which they took after the President's act of material de-escalation of the fighting."

A North Vietnamese spokesman reported that Ambassador Xuan Thuy was unable to attend today's session because of a slight indisposition. At the table today were Ha Van Lau, considered the delegation's No. 2 man, and Mai Van Bo, head of the North Vietnamese mission in Paris.

DOCTOR'S MAILBAG

Menstrual Flow Clots Not Unusual Condition

By WAYNE G. BRANDSTADT, M.D.

Q—What causes blood clots to pass with the menstrual flow? I'm 33, not pregnant and not taking birth control pills. Will it cause anemia?

A—The passage of clots is not unusual. When secondary anemia is associated with menstruation, it is caused by the loss of a large amount of blood, not by clotting.

Q—I am being treated for an ovarian condition for which my doctor used a German name meaning middle of the month. Can you give me the name and explain the condition?

A—The word you are groping for is mittelschmerz (literally middle pain). It is a rather sharp pain that occurs about midway between menstrual periods and is caused by the rupture of the capsule of a ripe ovum as it leaves the ovary in the process of ovulation. In most women this is painless. You are one of the exceptions.

Q—How effective are shock treatments for persons with severe depression? How long must one take them? What are the after effects? Do they impair the memory of concentration? Are there any a completely missed period.

Q—My husband, 84, is in a mental hospital. His doctor says he is confused and has a paranoid attitude. What does this mean?

A—Mental confusion is manifested by uncertainty as to who you are, where you are and what day, month or year it is. The paranoid individual believes, entirely without basis, that others are plotting against him. In some cases this may make him very dangerous.

Q—Could taking seven aspirin tablets at one time and being very upset cause me to miss a period?

A—An emotional upset might cause a delayed period but neither factor would cause drugs for depression?

A—There are several types of depression. For some, electroconvulsive shock treatments are very effective. The number of treatments required depends largely on how well the patient responds to them. They may have to be repeated later if the depression recurs. The strength of the current used must be carefully controlled to prevent physical injury from the convulsive reaction. The treatments may cause some muscular soreness but they do not cause brain damage or impair the memory. They are more likely to improve it. Many drugs are now used in the treatment of depressed states. Their effectiveness varies with the type and severity of the underlying cause.

Racial War Worse Than Vietnam's - McCarthy

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
Sen. Eugene J. McCarthy says the Vietnam war must be stopped but the nation's urban racial problem is an even more important issue.

The question of priorities was put to the Democratic presidential contender in Pittsburgh Tuesday during an impromptu 20-minute exchange with four young Negroes.

"I think you've got to stop the war," McCarthy replied, "but the domestic thing is much more important."

Asked which of the two issues would come first in his platform, McCarthy said they were inseparable.

The candidate's civil rights credentials were challenged by the four young men as he toured an art gallery in the heart of Pittsburgh's Negro section.

Secret Service bodyguards had advised against the unplanned side tour and they pressed in close during the exchange.

In a housing statement issued earlier, McCarthy said so long as suburban areas receive federal subsidies they should be required to contain a share of dwellings for low and moderate income families.

"The federal government," he said, "has gilded havens for the rich, isolated by distance and by zoning from the problems of the central cities."

On the Republican side, Richard M. Nixon described GOP presidential rival Nelson A. Rockefeller's campaign as "too much, too late." And Rockefeller pressed his contention that he would be more likely to win in November than Nixon.

Nixon repeated at a news conference in Philadelphia he expects to win the Republican nomination and said Rockefeller "has to do, shall we say, everything at this point" in his campaign.

"He apparently believes," Nixon said, "that spending a great deal in public relations, having a lot of national television, having a lot of newspaper advertisement, a massive direct mail effort to two million voters, and polls, might turn the tide... I think it's too much too late."

But Rockefeller, spotting a poster in Springfield, Ill., that read "Nixon's the One," declared:

"That's right. He's the one. He's the one who lost in 1960."

At another point, Rockefeller said: "Mr. Nixon thinks he's got it (the nomination) wrapped up... but the Republican party wants to win and I don't think he's got it wrapped up."

Rockefeller aides, meanwhile, put out a request of their own Tuesday after the Nixon camp asked newsmen to sign up now for covering Nixon as the Republican presidential nominee.

The Rockefeller aides asked newsmen to sign up now "to cover Mr. Rockefeller's inauguration next January" as president.

In other political developments:

—California Gov. Ronald Reagan said he will urge Southerners during appearances beginning this week to vote against independent candidate George C. Wallace to prevent the possibility of the presidential election being thrown into the House of Representatives. Reagan said that would help the Democrats retain the presidency.

—Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey, recovering from a case of flu that he said hit him "like a truck," said he's ready to return to campaign activities for his Democratic presidential bid.

Chicago Mayor Richard Daley said the Democratic National Convention will not be moved from his city and city workers will be used, if the telephone strike continues too long, to install communications equipment.

—Sen. Mark O. Hatfield, R-Ore., a Vietnam policy critic, said he would consider being

To Demand U.S. Admit Defeat

By GEORGE ESPER

Associated Press Writer

SAIGON (AP) — The Viet Cong command has warned its forces not to expect peace or independence from the Paris talks until a "general offensive and general uprising" force the United States to accept defeat, a captured enemy directive released by the U.S. Embassy disclosed today.

"The diplomatic offensive is of paramount importance, but it will not play a decisive role," said the enemy directive dated June 5.

"Only when we have successfully accomplished the general offensive and general uprising will the negotiations demonstrate their significance, which consists of creating conditions for the enemy to accept final defeat and withdraw in an 'honorable' manner."

American commanders now believe the Viet Cong-North Vietnamese command will launch another general offensive across South Vietnam in August, thrusting mainly at Saigon, the capital and largest city, Da Nang, the country's second largest city, and possibly the old imperial capital of Hue.

Expectations of an attack on Saigon in mid-July were modified when enemy troops to the west and northwest of the capital were reported pulling back.

One suggested explanation is that by building up for a big attack on the capital and then stepping back, North Vietnam now can claim at the Paris talks that it has scaled down the war and the United States in return should stop all bombing of the North.

There also is speculation that the enemy command is awaiting the outcome of the Honolulu meeting between President Johnson and South Vietnamese President Nguyen Van Thieu this weekend.

The enemy document, which was addressed to Viet Cong cadres and soldiers, was captured by American infantrymen in Binh Duong Province, north of Saigon.

Nixon's vice presidential running mate if asked said he feels Nixon is more "flexible" on Vietnam than the Johnson administration.

Blames WR for Loss of Industry

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
State Rep. Marion Crank of Foreman, a Democratic candidate for governor, charged Tuesday night that the state lost a $75 million plant because of Gov. Winthrop Rockefeller's "lack of leadership."

Crank told a group of Democratic women at Fort Smith that just one word could have changed a decision by Uniroyal Rubber Co. to build the plant at Ardmore, Okla., rather than Fort Smith.

Meanwhile, another Democratic candidate for governor, Mrs. Virginia Johnson, predicted in a statewide television address that it "may well be" that she will win the nomination without a runoff. Earlier Tuesday, Ted Boswell had predicted that he and Mrs. Johnson would win the runoff positions.

Asked about Crank's charge that his lack of leadership had cost the state the plant, Rockefeller said he had done everything he could to get the firm to locate in Arkansas.

Black Panther Trial Opens

OAKLAND, Calif. (AP) — Demonstrations outside the courtroom and argument over jury selection marked the opening of the murder trial of Huey Newton of the militant Black Panthers.

A defense attorney declared jury selection methods prevent Negroes from getting a fair trial.

The trial began Monday in Alameda County Superior Court as hundreds of disciplined, black-jacketed Panthers and their supporters shouted, "Free Huey!" from the street seven floors below.

The 26-year-old Panther defense minister is charged with killing an Oakland policeman, John F. Frey, 23, and wounding another in a shootout last Oct. 28. Newton was wounded.

Defense attorney Charles Garry filed a motion to quash the master panel of more than 7,000 potential jurors.

Arguments over this motion lasted all day Monday and were expected to continue through today.

After 11 postponements, Newton's attorneys failed Monday in two attempts to get another delay, and late in the afternoon filed an appeal with the U.S. Ninth Circuit Court of Appeal in San Francisco.

They asked a three-judge panel to reverse a denial earlier in the day by U.S. District Judge Lloyd Burke for a writ of habeas corpus and a stay of Newton's trial in the state court.

Politics At a Glance

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
Here is a summary of top political developments.

The Republicans: Richard M. Nixon describes GOP presidential rival Nelson A. Rockefeller's campaign as "too much, too late." Rockefeller says Nixon does not have GOP nomination wrapped up because "the Republican party wants to win."

The Democrats: Sen. Eugene J. McCarthy says Vietnam war must be stopped but nation's urban racial problem is even more important issue. Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey, recovering from flu, says he's ready to resume campaign.

The Democratic Convention: Chicago Mayor Richard Daley says as telephone strike continues that city workers will install equipment if necessary to keep Democratic National Convention in his city.

Saigon.

The disclosure coincided with these other developments:

U.S. Defense Secretary Clark Clifford flew to the critical northern provinces to assess the North Vietnamese threat below the demilitarized zone. His first stop was Da Nang, headquarters of U.S. Marine forces.

The Viet Cong ran up National Liberation Front flags today at a private school in the heart of the Saigon, apparently to shake confidence in the Saigon government. Police quickly took down the flags.

South Vietnamese infantrymen liberated 15 civilians held captive by the Viet Cong near Vinh Binh, in the Mekong Delta 57 miles southwest of Saigon.

The U.S. Command announced that North Vietnamese gunners on Monday shot down an Air Force F105 for the second time in two days.

not meet their demands," Rockefeller said. "I was even in communication with the president of the company."

Crank quoted a newspaper article as saying that Oklahoma Gov. Dewey Bartlett had made telephone calls to the presidents of three of his state's major utilities and secured the pledge of $140,000 to help buy 275 acres of land near Ardmore for an industrial site.

The article said that less than two months later the company announced plans to locate the plant at Ardmore, Crank said. "Arkansas had things going for it, uppermost being donation of a tract of land for the Uniroyal plant, expected to employ 1,300 persons when in full operation," Crank quoted the Oklahoma newspaper as saying.

Crank said the firm was planning in May to locate in Fort Smith unless Oklahoma could guarantee land and it was at this point that Bartlett became involved.

"I might say, parenthetically, that after a little research, I find that one of the few things that Ardmore has going for it as the location for this giant industry, is its adjacency to the Roy Turner Ranch, which was bought recently by Winthrop Rockefeller," Crank said.

This opened the door to more questions in relation "to the lack of interest by our leadership that has resulted in our state's loss," Crank said.

Crank questioned where Rockefeller's leadership was "when the hour of crucial decisions were made, when just a word could have changed the decision of the switch from Fort Smith to Ardmore."

Robert Millwee, executive director of the Arkansas Industrial Development Commission, said Uniroyal didn't locate in Arkansas because interests in Fort Smith and Van Buren declined to give the firm 300 acres of land.

Rockefeller also said the ranch he bought was not purchased recently.

The governor said he bought the ranch in either 1958 or 1959 and he said it is located about 25 miles from Ardmore.

Mrs. Johnson said in her speech, "If all of us will work as hard as we are capable of working for the next two weeks, we certainly will record a victory."

Then she turned her remarks to Rockefeller, saying the Republican administration has been "a comedy of errors" which "has not been funny but disastrous."

Mrs. Johnson said she would reveal in a few days her proposed program in its entirety. In her speech, Mrs. Johnson said: Her plans to improve tourism and industrialization would help raise the state's per capita income, which she said is Arkansas' No. 1 problem. She said she will keep the peace and "take such action as required to prevent any upheavals in Arkansas" and is opposed to attempts to "rob us of our constitutional rights to keep and bear arms."

Mrs. Johnson also said she is opposed to any new tax or increasing any existing tax until the need for it has been "definitely established."

Most of the candidates for governor and other statewide office seekers will get a chance to blast away in vote-getting speeches today at the Mount Nebo rally near Dardanelle.

Still Confused
by Surtax;
Animal Report

No sooner had yesterday's Star hit the street but one of our early-bird readers called up to say that notwithstanding this column's explanation she was still confused on the federal "surtax."

It was then I discovered some folks confuse the income tax with their withholding deductions. The two have a connection, of course, but only in the way that monthly installments relate to the total amount of a time-payment note.

The 10 per cent surtax means that the total amount of tax you will owe the federal government next April 15 will be 10 per cent more than what you were liable for last April 15. How it affects your withholding deductions is beside the point.

Withholding deductions may or may not fully cover your total tax liability next April 15. My information is that on this particular tax year they will fall short—and most of you will have to dig up an additional lump sum payment next April 15.

That's not my threat—I'm only reporting what the Washington wire news tells me.

But you won't be confused about income tax matters if you will bear in mind the tax law applies to the year's total you owe on April 15. This is absolute. The means by which you make payments toward covering the tax, called withholding, is variable and only approximate. The law holds you responsible for the year's total tax April 15—and that's what the surtax has increased by 10 per cent.

My neighbor, J. T. Thompson, 717 S. Main St., took a load off my mind the other afternoon.

For many months I have been putting out unshucked peanuts at the foot of one of my oak trees, all because I once saw a lone squirrel in my yard. But I never saw him again. Plenty of lousy blue-jays, but no squirrels. So I had a depressed feeling that I was only feeding the birds—and the kind of birds that do their level best to keep squirrels away.

But Thompson gave me good news the other afternoon. He said I have a squirrel nest in one of the oaks, and he has seen squirrels at the peanut pan. This is encouraging. My next project should be to investigate the possibility of giving squirrels boxing lessons so they can whip the overbearing blue-jays.

Footnote from the back 40: I reported one of my Mallards had hatched out four ducklings, and I ventured the prediction she would be lucky to raise two—figuring the loggerhead turtle in the pool would get half of them. I wasn't pessimistic enough. Already she is down to one duckling. But I'm not sure the turtle is to blame. I think the careless madam has let the ducklings stay in the pool too long. She's gotten so civilized she's forgotten the original instinct to force them out of the water at intervals until they are able to generate their own flotation oil. Otherwise the ducklings would drown—as three out of four have.

Five faculty members at the University of Arkansas and State College of Arkansas at Conway reportedly received settlements of more than $23,000 before the two schools were taken off the censure list of the American Association of University Professors.

More than $20,000 reportedly was paid to the four teachers at the university and about $3,100 to Thomas Higgins, an assistant professor of music who was dismissed in 1960. The university had been under AAUP censure since 1964 and SCA since 1963. The censure of the schools was lifted in April.

The university faculty members were Max Carr, associate professor of music; Frederick G. Friedman, professor of philosophy; John L. McKenney, assistant professor of philosophy; and Thelma W. Taylor, instructor in philosophy.

Czechs Defy Intervention by Soviet

By PETER REHAK
Associated Press Writer
PRAGUE, Czechoslovakia (AP)—Czechoslovakia's new Communist leaders defied the Kremlin and other orthodox Communist governments Tuesday night and said the nation will continue on its liberal course, with the full support of the people.

The Czechoslovak Communist party presidium met to discuss a letter from the Warsaw conference of the Soviet Union, East Germany, Poland, Hungary and Bulgaria. Their leaders met Sunday and Monday because the Poles and East Germans fear the liberal ferment will spread to their countries, and the Soviet leadership also is uneasy.

The Czechoslovak presidium said it will prepare a reply in the next few days. In an interim communique, it said it was aware that opponents "are active and trying to misuse the democratization process against the party and against socialism."

Alexander Dubcek, the new chief of the Czechoslovak party, refused to attend the Warsaw meeting and proposed instead that he and his colleagues hold a series of bilateral meetings with the various allied Communist leaders.

Reliable sources said the letter from Warsaw demanded that the Czechoslovak leaders attend a Communist summit conference within two weeks to justify their program. The New York Times reported in a dispatch from Prague. The report said the letter charged that the policies of the Dubcek regime had given rise to "revisionism" in the party and had raised the threat of a counterrevolution by forces friendly to "imperialism."

The letter reportedly made one concession to Prague's new leaders—agreement for separate meetings with the leaders of the five nations before the joint meeting, with all the conferences to be in Prague.

The Czechoslovak presidium's communique said it agrees in principle to a consultative meeting of a group of countries but wanted preliminary separate consultations.

The Czechoslovak news agency CTK meanwhile reported that additional Soviet troops have left the country. It gave no numbers.

Earlier, Czechoslovak intelligence officers acknowledged that only 1,500 of the 16,000 troops moved into the country for the maneuvers in June had left. The latest reported Soviet promise is that all will be out of the country by Sunday.

Joy Stille, Sitting in for Hal Boyle, Spells Gobbledygook

By JOY STILLEY
NEW YORK (AP)—There's an art to naming organizations today. The first letters of the words in the name have to spell a word themselves. And, what's more, that word has to have a meaning relevant to the membership's activities.

The official designation for these words made of words is "acronym," and the whole country has gone acronym happy. From agencies on the international level such as A-D-A-Gency for International Development—through the national VISA—Volunteers in Service to America—the idea has filtered down to state, city and even school groups.

In the days of Franklin Delano Roosevelt's New Deal, scores of alphabetical agencies were created, but the names were picked first and shortened later to initials that didn't spell a thing.

Thus the National Labor Relations Board became NLRB, rather difficult to pronounce who needed a job, these days Works Progress Administration, known as WPA, which undertook to supply work for anyone had anybody thought to try, The would have been called AWAKE—Arrange Work and Keep Em-

Marine Corps Manual Spells Out Rugged Rules for a Sniper

By FRED S. HOFFMAN
AP Military Writer

WASHINGTON (AP)—The ability to go for long periods without food or water, to control emotions and to kill "calmly and deliberately" and without remorse are the main qualifications of a good sniper, says a proposed Marine Corps manual.

In effect, it adds, the sniper cannot be made—he must be born.

The 240-page manual is being circulated through Marine commands for comment and has not yet been adopted.

Written by Maj. Robert A. Russell of Vista, Calif., who commanded early pickup sniper teams in Vietnam, it lays out the first formal training program on the subject since World War II.

The document says that candidates for sniper training should undergo psychiatric screening to make sure they have "certain essential mental qualities."

"A sniper . . . must kill calmly and deliberately, shooting carefully selected targets," the manual says.

"He must not be susceptible to emotions of anxiety or remorse."

The manual also cannot be taught or instilled by training," Russell, now retired, told newsmen at the time he completed the manual more than a year ago that sniping is a "very personal kind of fighting—you can see the look on people's faces" when they are shot.

By this, he meant that a telescopic sight brings the face of the often unsuspecting victim close to the eye of the sniper, even from a thousand yards away.

"It's different than spraying lead all over a hill," Russell said.

His manual says a sniper must be highly intelligent, because he must learn a wide variety of skills such as ballistics, radio operation, adjustment of artillery fire, map reading and military intelligence collection and reporting.

Sniper teams, generally two men, must operate for long periods by themselves and this means, the manual says, the sniper must display decisiveness and self-reliance.

Stressing coolness, the document says that "even an instant of uncontrolled emotion can be fatal."

"The sniper must possess true equanimity, a perpetual self-possession and serenity which fosters maturity and patience," the manual says.

Heavily Fortified Courtroom Prepared for Sirhan's Trial

By GENE HANDSAKER

LOS ANGELES (AP)—It looks like some prosperous suburb's proud new courtroom: walls of eggshell white . . . brown tile floor . . . air conditioning . . . frosted-glass light fixtures.

But the handsome drapes hide steel plates—big enough to protect against anything, including explosives, that might conceivably be thrown through the windows.

This is the "minifortress" where Sirhan Bishara Sirhan pleads Friday to charge of assassinating Sen. Robert F. Kennedy.

The room is 50 or 60 feet from the cell where six deputies constantly guard the 24-year-old Jordanian from anonymous death threats. Sheriff Peter J. Pitchess said in displaying it Tuesday. The room and Sirhan are on the 13th floor of the Hall of Justice.

"Someone would have to destroy the entire building to get him," Pitchess told newsmen.

Whether it will be used for Sirhan's actual trial will be up

Ray Gives Up Fight and Is Returning

LONDON (AP)—James Earl Ray may be on his way back to the United States tonight or early Thursday to face trial for the killing of Dr. Martin Luther King Jr.

Ray cleared the way for his return by signing a declaration Tuesday that he did not want to appeal the order for his extradition issued by London's chief magistrate on July 2.

It was not known whether Ray's lawyers would deliver his statement to the Home Office or whether they would let the 15-day period for him to file an appeal expire this afternoon without taking further action.

In either case, Home Secretary James Callaghan could sign the order for Ray's extradition before tonight. He would then be delivered to the U.S. Justice Department for the transatlantic flight.

Informed sources said the journey would be made aboard a U.S. government plane or a chartered civil jet, with Ray under heavy guard.

Ray's American lawyer, Arthur J. Hanes of Birmingham, Ala., was due in London this morning. He may ask to accompany his client back to the United States, but U.S. officials indicated this request would be turned down.

Ray's decision not to appeal the extradition order came as a surprise after a routine court hearing Tuesday at which he sat quietly while his British lawyers agreed to have him held in prison another eight days on charges he entered Britain on a forged Canadian passport and carried an unlicensed gun.

These were the charges on which he was arrested June 8 at London Airport, ending a two-month, worldwide search following the slaying of the civil rights leader April 4 in Memphis, Tenn.

Segregation to Increase, Not Decline

WASHINGTON (AP)—America will become increasingly segregated by race over the next 17 years, says a study released today by President Johnson's National Commission on Urban Problems.

The study finds that between 1960 and 1985, nonwhites will become more concentrated in cities and whites will continue moving into suburban areas.

"The projections vividly portray the geographic fulfillment of the fears expressed by the President's Commission on Civil Disorders—that the American society is becoming an apartheid society," said the study's authors.

Nonwhite population within cities of 50,000 or more are projected to increase from 50 to 58 per cent; white population will decline from 30 to 21 per cent.

Former Sen. Paul H. Douglas, chairman of the commission, said in a forward to the report that the findings are projections—not predictions. But he said they underscore the "alarming prospect" that "our people may be increasingly segregated. This should be read not as prophecy but as warning."

The report says the shifting of population undoubtedly will mean more cities will have non-white majorities by 1985. Of the largest cities the only ones with nonwhite majorities now are Washington, D.C., and Newark, N.J.

Authors of the report are Patricia Leavay Hodge, research associate at the University of Chicago's Population Research Center and Philip M. Houser, director of the center.

Stamps at Authorized Stores Only

Food retailers must be authorized by the Consumer and Marketing Service to accept U.S. Department of Agriculture food coupons.

This was emphasized today by Mrs. Marie C. McEvoy, who is in charge of the Consumer Food Programs office of C & MS, in Texarkana.

Retailers can obtain information on applying for authorization by writing Consumer Food Programs office at 207 Post Office and Chase Bldg., Texarkana. "To become eligible," she explained, "the retailer must make application, read the regulations, and certify that he understands them and will comply with them."

A USDA representative will then discuss with the retailer his knowledge of the program and his responsibility in handling food coupons.

USDA food coupons can be used like cash, so there are few special handling problems.

Most of the retail food handlers in Hempstead County have applied for authorization to accept food coupons.

In counties where the Food Stamp Program has been operating, retail food sales have increased about 8 per cent, reports USDA.

Households certified by the county welfare office as eligible to use USDA food coupons may well buy all of their food with them.

The household will buy USDA food coupons equal to the amount of money it would normally spend monthly for food. Then, it receives as a "bonus" additional food coupons. This amount depends on the household's size, income, resources and other considerations.

For example, a family may buy $40 worth of USDA food coupons and receive $20 worth free. As a result, this family which has been spending $40 monthly for food now has $60 to spend.

The Hempstead County Food Stamp Program is operated jointly by the State Department of Public Welfare and USDA's Consumer and Marketing Service.

Washington Fights to Recover Tourist Trade Riots Killed

By C. YATES McDANIEL
Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON (AP)—The nation's capital—its tourist loss dramatized by the closing of the historic Willard Hotel—is readying a countrywide advertising campaign to try to draw visitors back.

Hotel occupancy figures indicate tourism fell off a full fifth from the year before right after the April racial riots, although it has improved since, and the crowds at theaters, monuments and cafeterias remain noticeably smaller.

The campaign to recruit tourists is sponsored by the Washington Hotel Association and the Convention and Visitors Bureau which estimates a $40 million loss from April and May hotel room cancellations alone.

"We're going to have to hit John Doe Tourist over the head," said hotel association president Hudson Moses, "to show him he was misled by accounts of the aftermath of what happened in the spring."

That was a reference to the April riots after which room occupancy in the 42 association-member hotels dropped 19.5 per cent in April and 20.2 per cent in May from the corresponding months last year.

Some of the tourists began coming back in June; hotel occupancy was only 14.9 per cent below the year before.

But Leonard Hickman, the hotel association's executive vice president, said business will pick up slowly "until we impress the rest of the country that Washington is not a ghost town."

Part of the effort will be the placing of "Welcome Back to Washington" ads in newspapers around the country.

The Willard Hotel—where presidents slept and Julia Ward Howe wrote "The Battle Hymn of the Republic"—blamed the riots and the Poor People's Campaign for part of the financial trouble that brought its surprise closing at midnight Monday.

Hickman bemoaned the closing but said the Willard was a "special case."

"The Willard might have survived longer without the April riot," Hickman said, "but it was in trouble before that."

Warplane Damaged at LR

LITTLE ROCK AIR FORCE BASE (AP)—A B58 Hustler bomber caught fire as it landed at the Little Rock Air Force Base Tuesday afternoon and was heavily damaged.

A spokesman said the cause of the fire had not been determined. Base emergency units brought the fire under control quickly.

The pilot, Maj. George R. Tate, 36, and his crew of two were not injured. Others on the plane were Capt. Roy G. Walters, 36, the navigator, and Capt. Francis Mosson, 30, the defense systems operator.

The plane is assigned to the 43rd Bombardment Wing.

Heavy Cong Attack on Saigon Expected This Month or Next

By PETER ARNETT
Associated Press Writer

SAIGON (AP)—Widespread enemy attacks as heavy as the Tet and May offensives can be expected throughout South Vietnam in late July, August or early September, Secretary of Defense Clark M. Clifford said today.

Basing his comments on reports from senior U.S. commanders since he arrived in Vietnam Sunday, Clifford said enemy forces around Saigon are increasing and there is a continual movement of enemy troops into the military district that surrounds the capital.

The purpose, he said, "obviously is to launch some attack on Saigon."

Asked if enemy tactics have any relation to the U.S.-North Vietnamese talks in Paris, Clifford replied: "We proceed on the assumption that the enemy combat plan is based on making impressions on the conference in Paris." He said a "spectacular event" could affect the negotiations, but did not elaborate.

Clifford said the level of fighting in South Vietnam's northernmost provinces has not been as high as it was in previous months because some North Vietnamese divisions have been pulled back into North Vietnam for refitting.

They can be expected to return "in greater force," Clifford told newsmen at Da Nang during a visit to the northern area below the demilitarized zone. He met at Da Nang and Phu Bai with U.S. Marine and Army officers commanding troops in the critical northern war zone.

The Pentagon chief said none of the American troop commanders in Saigon has asked him for more troops, and he has no plans to request additional troops.

Clifford said he was interested in the recent statement by South Vietnamese President Nguyen Van Thieu that phased withdrawal of American troops might begin in 1969, but he himself was not prepared to give any estimate.

The "outstanding fact" of the briefings he received in Da Nang today, Clifford said, was a report that the South Vietnamese 1st Army Division is comparable in effectiveness to any division in the U.S. Army. The division operates along the demilitarized zone.

The secretary said the South Vietnamese are accelerating their efforts elsewhere in the country and he hopes other government units can be brought up to the quality of the 1st Division.

In Saigon, the U.S. Embassy released a captured Viet Cong directive warning enemy forces not to expect peace or independence from the Paris talks until a "general offensive and general uprising" force the United States to accept defeat.

"The diplomatic offensive is of paramount importance, but it will not play a decisive role," said the document, which was dated June 5.

Another Air Liner Take-off to Cuba

MIAMI, Fla. (AP)—A heavily armed man hijacked a National Airlines passenger jet today, held command during a refueling stop at New Orleans, then forced the pilot to take off for Cuba.

The DC8, with 56 passengers and seven crewmen aboard, was due to land at Havana at 9:50 a.m. (EDT), the Federal Aviation Administration said.

"I've got a Cuban in the cockpit with a grenade in one hand and a pistol in the other," the pilot, Capt. Sid Oliver of Miami, reported by radio as Flight 1064 took off from Houston.

"I am being ordered to Cuba," he added.

The flight, which originated at Los Angeles, had made a scheduled stop at Houston. It also was scheduled to land at New Orleans before reaching its destination at Miami.

A FAA spokesman said Oliver convinced the hijacker there was not enough fuel in the tanks to overfly New Orleans.

FBI agents and police stood helplessly by the plane at New Orleans, while a fuel truck topped the tanks.

The hijacker remained in the cockpit, threatening to blow up the plane with the grenade if he was molested.

"I don't know what you can do," said an airline spokesman while the plane was on the ground.

The hijacking was the ninth this year of a commercial airliner. The most recent was July 12, when a gunman who said he was dying of cancer tried to force the pilot of a Delta plane to take him to Havana. He was talked out of the hijacking and the plane landed at Miami.

Once before a pilot talked a hijacker into landing for fuel before flying him to Cuba.

That was Aug. 3, 1961 when a father and son took command of a Continental Airlines plane over Columbus, N.M., on a flight from Phoenix to El Paso. The men held five crewmen and four of the plane's 55 passengers on the plane for several hours until authorities punctured the plane's tires with machine gun fire and overpowered the hijackers.

Recently, another airliner was hijacked to Cuba from South America by a man carrying a hand grenade.

Other members of the crew of the hijacked plane today were identified as co-pilot Leo Ris, flight engineers, Charles Vile, and stewardesses Barbara Wadley, Suzanne Lawton, Shelley Moore, and Kathleen Dickinson.
